HELMET AND NEGATIVE COGGINS REQUIRED

Bring a hard copy of your Coggins or picture of your Coggins on your phone—internet is not always available on grounds at check-in.

The Foothills Riding Club would like to welcome you to our fifth annual hunter pace. Trails are mainly wooded trails, with some fields and some steep grades. Most trails are wide and open, with some bridge crossings, a short time on a road, and at least one water crossing. All jumps are optional.

Parking will be very limited and we encourage you trailer-carpool when possible. Enter at main gate and PLEASE follow parking attendant volunteers to assist with maximizing our capacity for the day.

PLEASE OBSERVE COURTEOUS TRAIL ETIQUETTE. When passing—please walk when approaching and departing a slower group, and give adequate distance before resuming a faster pace. Communication is KEY! Many people bring young or green horses that can get rattled by the commotion and excitement, and we wish all riders to have pleasant rides, no matter what pace they ride.

MY FAVORITE HORSE

Submitted by Erin Stroud

In January, I led the FRC board's first meeting of 2024. It marked the first meeting I presided over as the president this year. Despite not being particularly prone to nerves, I found myself unusually anxious about addressing this group of 12 ladies, most of whom I know quite well. There was no apparent reason for my nervousness; however, I wanted to foster better discussion among everyone. Over the years, we've all endured those cringe-worthy icebreakers used by leaders attempting to stimulate group interaction with the most random and non-conversation-worthy questions. Thus, I settled on what I believed to be the optimal question to calm my nerves and initiate dialogue among the horse people in the room: "Who is your favorite horse of all time, whether from the past, present, or fiction?" Remarkably, this question resonated with everyone, setting the tone for the meeting and fostering a sense of community.

Each month, we aim to share our favorite horses—past, present, or fictional—with you. We encourage you to submit your favorite horse so we can feature it in our newsletter each month!

My favorite horse of all time is more representative of a breed than a specific horse: the Thoroughbred. Since I was young, I've been captivated by horse racing, enthralled by the excitement of the starting bell and the spectacle of horses thundering down the track towards the finish line. Witnessing the victors prance into the winner's circle, adorned with a blanket of roses, always filled my heart with joy. While I've never attended a race in person, come Kentucky Derby day, you could invariably find me glued to the TV screen. As I became more earnest about riding and aspired to compete myself, I set my sights on acquiring an OTTB one day. When the film "Secretariat" premiered, it became my go-to movie during moments of respite. I knew every line by heart and would become emotional watching Big Red gallop down the track. Even now, when I rewatch the movie and witness him thundering down the home stretch of the Belmont Stakes to the tune of "O Happy Day," tears well up in my eyes (I actually pulled up the video to remind myself of the scene and found myself shedding tears—literally). The movie always instilled in me the belief that things would improve if I worked towards my dreams.

I would argue that Secretariat is my favorite horse of all time. However, upon bringing home my own OTTB, Private Humor, aka Prim, I had the opportunity to fall in love with my true favorite horse. She wasn't flashy, she didn't have any chrome, she wasn't even that tall, and she was the prissy mare I ever met, and I'm a mare person! But she had heart. She had the will to work, and the gameness to jump anything I pointed her at. Our partnership was a brief yet remarkable competitive career. I bought her sight unseen through a picture on Facebook, without even conducting a PPE. While she was awesome in every aspect, she developed a funky walk one day. Following many months of specialized shoeing by our amazing farriers, bi-monthly chiropractic sessions with our favorite Dr. Grace, countless days of rehab, and many tears shed, I made the decision to retire her as a recipient broodmare. Through this experience, I gained perspective and came to appreciate the journey she led me on. While the past few years presented numerous challenges, they also provided moments of unparalleled joy. I wouldn't have grown as a rider without Prim's presence. Thoroughbreds possess an innate ability to transform. They transition from their racing careers to excel in diverse endeavors, defying the limitations of their past experiences. If racing isn't their forte, they have the opportunity to discover a new way for their real talents to shine.

In life, our past experiences don't dictate our futures. We possess the ability to reinvent ourselves and pursue new endeavors. Much like Penny Tweedy with Secretariat, who refused to allow her initial status as a housewife to hinder her ascent to become one of the most influential horse owners of all time, I've confronted challenges head-on. With Prim, the past few years have tested me. Anyone who has had their horse suffer an unexplainable injury understands the emotional toll it takes on a person. It drained me in more ways than one. Ultimately, I had to retire her and come to terms with what life would look like now for me in the saddle. I have my older mare who's more content to trail ride than to compete and a mini-mule that drives me crazy. As I look ahead to the future, I may or may not get another OTTB or I may explore an entirely new breed to fall in love with. Regardless of what lies ahead, I recognize that time is on my side. There's no rush to realize my aspirations within the next three months. I can find the joy of riding again and dare to dream once more.

So yeah, my favorite horse of all time is a Thoroughbred.

Our business. Your peace of mind.

Horse and farm insurance you can count on.

IN PLACE

Submitted by Carrie “one degree at a time” Kimmell

I used to say I could do all the things if they were all in one place.

Because I am committed and because having everything in one place would give me control of my time.

Practically speaking, this means if I need to feed the horses an early dinner before baseball practice and supplement with a late feeding after, I have the freedom to make that decision.

It means using morning mucking as my gym, cramming in some pushups when I load hay, and getting the dogs out - all in one fell swoop.

It means having the ability to shift things around at the spur of the moment if needed - like if a potential home flip project comes up that we need to see asap.

It means I get to be in charge of my efficiency.

The right place can do this for us.

The right property becomes an integral piece of our dreams.

Putting everything in one place is by and large the biggest gift I have given myself as a mom.

Inner conflict about extended hours away from home has been resolved for now.

This is the type of freedom I longed for.

To be free of guilt and pressure to be all things in all places at all times.

Now I am free to do what makes sense for the kids while still honoring myself and what makes me come alive day to day.

It still makes for little downtime.

But it's just one chapter.

And I'm grateful to be in a place to enjoy it outside of the pace I used to keep. So to my fellow parents, trust yourself.

In Place continued

It took us 12 years of parenthood and a cross country move before we reached the place we imagined for our family in year one.

Keep making the one degree turns your inner voice asks you to make.

Your place is waiting.

PS. If you want help finding “your place” from a horse person who understands, I’d love to help!

FRC is happy to introduce a new youth program going into 2024. Interested in joining? Want to learn more? Sign up for a membership and let us know about the young members in your family to be included on future mailing lists.

FRC Youth Program Mission Statement (what is it about)?

The purpose of the FRC youth program is to encourage young members (under 18) to become involved in the Riding community. Further, the program seeks to provide educational, team-building and community growth opportunities while helping to instill important work ethic, horsemanship and camaraderie values.

What does that mean?!

This means that within the framework of its' design, members can anticipate opportunities to better understand the roles of organizers, officials, volunteers, professionals, and amateurs. Additionally, there will be opportunities for clinics, coaching, course walks, camps, team-building exercises and other outlets aimed at supporting opportunities for growth and development.
